NC Reads

North Carolina Reads is a statewide book club sponsored by North Carolina Humanities. Each month, one of five total books are featured that explore issues, history, and culture centered around our state. Participants are invited to take part in virtual book discussions, hosted by NC Humanities, that feature the authors and experts. Copies of each month's book are available at the library today!

March's Book

On the Swamp: Fighting for Indigenous Environmental Justice

by Ryan Emanuel

Nonfiction. Environmental scientist Ryan E. Emanuel, a member of the Lumbee tribe, shares stories from North Carolina about Indigenous survival and resilience in the face of radical environmental changes. Addressing issues from the loss of wetlands to the arrival of gas pipelines, these stories connect the dots between historic patterns of Indigenous oppression and present-day efforts to promote environmental justice and Indigenous rights on the swamp. Emanuel's scientific insight and deeply personal connections to his home blend together in a book that is both a heartfelt and an analytical call to acknowledge and protect sacred places.

Virtual Book Discussion

Watch online on March 31st at 6:00pm. Register on the NC Reads website or at the link below.
